Community Christmas Assured

At the call of Rev. T. C. Chapman, chairman of the Community Christmas movement last year, representatives of three churches, the Methodist, Congregational and Universalist and of several orders gathered at Community Hall Monday evening to consider what should be done in reference to having a Community Christmas this year, as a continuance of the movement of 1921. All present were enthusiastic over last year's success and in view of the fact that a part of the work of the W. C. T. U. is along this line it was unanimously voted that the work should be continued and the Union was requested to assume the leadership, and also that the Union should be authorized to call on every organization both religious and fraternal, and all the clubs for any and all assistance in their power, all co-operating to make this a real live movement and a big success.

Committees will be appointed and a survey made of the whole village to find out the needs of unfortunate families duplicating the work of last year. The meeting was adjourned until Tuesday evening, December 12th at the Community Hall when representatives of all the churches and organizations are asked to be present and as far as possible to report their part of the contributions. It is interesting to note that last year, which was the first year of the movement, over fifty families were given Christmas cheer and helped with clothing, food, vegetables, and other farm products, and many books and toys were included in the packages for the small people. After all the needs were filled as far as could be found out, there was $75 in money left in the treasury and all through the year some one has been helped. The merchants have very kindly given a generous discount in all those cases as they did last year at Christmas time, making it possible to make the money go farther. Mrs. Jennie Bates Russell has had the handling of the money and under her judicious management she has a little left for a nest egg towards this year's work. Having this amount on hand it has made it possible to extend the Christmas plan all through the year. The officers for this year are:

Chairman—Rev. T. C. Chapman.
Secretary—Corrie Tucker.
Treasurer—Mrs. Jennie Bates Russell.

Bible Students' Lecture

A. M. Graham of New York City, a prominent lecturer the past thirty years in the International Bible Students Association, spoke before an audience of about a hundred at the Grange hall Tuesday evening.

The speaker explained the common expression "Millions Now Living Will Never Die" dwelling at length on the first three words in the light of present industrial, social and religious revolutions. Mr. Graham has a strong personality with the ability to put across facts supported by scripture and current events.

According to Mr. Graham's logic this old planet has passed through two major periods with another in the making. Creation to the Flood constituted the first; the World War terminated the second and the third is the present World. According to one Bible student, in 1925 we shall see the end of temporal rule, but Mr. Graham was more optimistic and extended the time to a possible far distant future.

The world in general was upbraided for its corruption, business, politics, in the churches and in society. The speaker prophesied another World War impossible because Uncle Sam guards the treasure chest, and because the people as a mass will not tolerate another crime against civilization. War Lords have had their fill never more to be repeated.

J. H. Jodrey of Auburn opened the meeting and introduced the speaker. Several gospel hymns were sung and Mrs. Elmer H. Henley of Waterford rendered a fine solo.

Union Thanksgiving Service

The Methodist Church was the mecca of Norway worshippers last Sunday evening, when a full house greeted Rev. O. E. Barnard as he rose to give the annual Thanksgiving sermon before the united churches of the village.

The address was based on Paul's expression of thankfulness to Christ for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry," this word "ministry" having the basic meaning of our modern word "service." The speaker emphasized the common need that we should recognize this call to the ministry of helpfulness and find delight in the privilege of doing good. Being of use in God's world is not only a duty, but also the source of deepest satisfaction, an abiding reason for thanksgiving.

The singing was whole hearted and inspiring, led by the united choirs, with Mrs. H. L. Horne at the organ. The special musical parts were greatly enjoyed. All the Protestant pastors of the town were present, though because the choir completely filled the platform, they assumed a layman's privilege in the pews.

Rev. T. C. Chapman presided, and the program was carried out as follows:

Response.....Rev. O. E. Barnard
Opening Song Service.....Rev. O. G. Miller
Prayer.....Rev. O. G. Miller
Bible Lesson.....Rev. O. G. Miller
Vocal solo.....Edith Joslin
Scripture Lesson.....Rev. O. G. Miller
Sermon.....Rev. O. E. Barnard

Girls' Day

Girls' Day will be observed at the Congregational Sunday School on Dec. 10. It is hoped to make this a real Rally Day for Girls, both old and young and everyone is expected to bring at least one visitor. There will be special exercises by the Girls both at the opening and closing of the school.

Pierce-Morse

The marriage of Mrs. N. Pierce and Clara M. Morse took place Monday, Nov. 28, at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. G. H. Newton, who used the single ring service. The bride wore a traveling suit of navy blue. There were no attendants.

Mr. Pierce is one of the prosperous farmers of the town and resides at Norway. He is a member of Norway Grange. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Morse, Swift's Corner. She has been employed for two seasons at Lakeside Inn.

Monday evening a party of young people surprised them and gave them an old fashioned serenade.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kilgore entertained the Stoneham-Waterford Whist Club, Friday evening. Mrs. Charles York will entertain the next gathering.

Holmes' Notes for sale at this office. Two cents each or twenty cents per dozen. Will pay postage on mail orders on one dozen.

Rents wanted: J. L. Wood 3 to 5 rooms; Mrs. W. C. Charles about the same number of rooms. And there are a half dozen others in the same fix. Chas. Chaplin of East Stoneham has a good job in town, but can't get a rent and it's a little too far to come by auto and too cold to sleep under the bridge for the next 5 months, so he will remain on the farm and eat up what he raised last season.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice E. Prince have Louise Thomas of Gorham Normal School, as Thanksgiving guests.

Frederick M. Davis has returned from Portland to work for Geo. H. Bennett in the paint shop. "Couldn't get a rent where the landlord would put up with the children," was Fred's comment. Word is being rushed into the shop and Mr. Bennett needs help.

Bert Melvin has been employed at the Mason M't'g Co. since Bill Ripley put up his ice wagons for the winter.

Youngsters found, skating Monday morning on shallow pools. Larger bodies of water are frozen but not safe even for the light weights. Wait a little while for a good freeze then go to it with no worry.

The Norway High School faculty entertained the Senior class Friday evening at Mother's Club hall, Norway Lake. Dancing was in order, and refreshments served.

Mrs. Jennie H. Richardson has returned from Old Orchard and is visiting at the Charles Richardson's this week. The high school cleared $235 at their fair. Gross receipts were $500.

A public progressive whist party for the benefit of the Ladies Circle of the Mason M't'g Co. was held Thursday evening at the home of the hostess, Miss Della Noyes. Twelve tables were in play. ## A FAIR WARNING

One That Should Be Heeded By Norway
Residents

Frequently the first sign of kidney trouble is a slight ache or pain in the loins. Neglect of this warning makes the way easy for more serious troubles—dropsy, gravel, Bright's disease. 'Tis well to pay attention to the first sign.
Weak kidneys generally grow weaker and delay is often dangerous. Residents of this locality place reliance in Doan's Kidney Pills. This tested remedy has been used in kidney trouble over 50 years—is recommended 'all over the civilized world. Read the following:

Mrs. G. D. Frost, 6 Tucker St., Norway, says: "At the time I used Doan's Kidney Pills they helped me wonderfully, and I take pleasure in recommending them.
My back gave me trouble and there seemed to be a deep seated pain across the center of my back. My kidneys didn't act regularly and in other ways showed signs of disorder. As Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in the family with good results, I decided to try them and got a box. After using them, the trouble left me entirely."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Frost
had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo,

SPENT HALF HER TIME IN BED

Farmer's Wife Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a Well Woman

Carter's Creek, Tenn.—"Three years ago I was almost an invalid. I spent half of my time in bed, being afflicted with a trouble which women of a certain age are apt to have. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a well woman now and have been for two years. I can work as well as any one who is younger and as I am a farmer's wife I have plenty to do for I cultivate my own garden, raise many chickens and do my own housework. You may publish this letter as I am ready to do anything to help other women as I have been so well and happy since my troubles are past." Mrs. E. T. GALLOWAY, Carter's Creek, Tenn.

Most women find plenty to do. If they are upset with some female ailment and troubled with such symptoms as Mrs. Galloway had, the smallest duty seems a mountain.

If you find it hard to keep up, if you are nervous and irritable, without ambition and out of sorts generally, give the Vegetable Compound a fair trial. We believe it will help you greatly, for it has helped others.

Radio Column

EDITED BY DICK CHASE

Receiving Sets

There are several types of receiving sets some of which are, namely, single circuit, coupled circuit, three circuit and super-regenerative. The single circuit set is probably the most commonly used by the "novice," it is the easiest set to control and that is its only advantage; it is not as selective as other sets or, in other words, there is more interference when using it than when using the coupled or three circuit set. I will say for it though, that it does bring in the concerts as well as the others when interference is not bad and here in Maine where there are no broadcasting stations of any size within 150 miles, it is quite satisfactory, but some nights the concerts do get mixed and there is some telegraph interference.

The coupled circuit and three circuit tuners have been used by "amateurs" for several years and are now being used by the "novice" to a large extent. The three circuit is the standard tuner at the present time and is as good as there is. The super-regenerative set is a comparatively new invention it was first given to the public last summer by Maj. Arnold, its inventor. The advantages in this set are that it uses what is known as a loop aerial which can be set up in a small space indoors and therefore, is more suited to cities than the country and it reduces static to some extent. A great many have tried to build these sets and in the majority of cases the results have been poor.

As a rule, amplifiers are used with the single circuit, coupled circuit and three circuit sets. There are two types of amplifiers, the Radio frequency, or R. F. amplifier, and the Audio amplifier. The R. F. amplifier brings in stations which cannot be heard with the detector alone and the Audio amplifier amplifies signals which can be heard with the detector. As a rule Audio amplification will suffice, but if they very distant stations are to be heard, R. F. amplifiers are the thing to use. The Audio and R. F. amplifiers can be used together with greatly improved results. When using R. F. amplification with a regenerative tuner at least two stages must be used to improve the results of the set as regeneration cannot be used with the R. F.

To sum up everything, I will say that two steps of R. F. amplification, a three circuit tuner and two stages of Audio amplification are the ideal set, while very good results can be obtained with a single circuit and one or more steps of Audio Amp.

A loud speaker cannot be used with satisfactory results with less than two stages of Audio Amp.

How Call Letters are Issued

If you have ever listened in on a Radio set, you probably have heard the announcer say, "This is Station KDKA," or "W G Y," etc. Probably all this meant to you, was that those were the call letters of the station you were hearing. Every legal Radio Station in the world has call letters whether telegraph or telephone and the two letters with which the call begun designates the country to which the station belongs. These index letters are provided by the International Radiotelegraph Conventions and some of the following are examples: AAAA German, all combinations beginning with B as BAAA to BZZZ England, BAAA to BZZZ pain and Colonies, etc. Many nations have call letters with the index different as the United States. We have combinations from KDKA to KZZZ, all combinations beginning with N and all beginning with W. These different letters are put to different uses, to explain this, I will quote from page 7 of the Government publication, "Radio Stations of the United States."

All combinations beginning with the letter N are reserved for Government stations and in addition the combinations from WUA to WYZ and WXA to WZZ are reserved for stations of the U. S. Army. All other calls in the K and W combination are commercial stations which include broadcasting stations.

You may also have heard stations signing 1BAS, 2ADM or 8CQ, these are "amateur stations" and are supposed to be on 200 meter wave length. The number before the letters designates the Naval District of the United States in which the station is situated. The 1st district is New England, 2d around New York, 3d South of the 2d, etc. There are nine in all, therefore, there are nine calls BAS, but each with a different number.

Calls beginning with a number and having X, Y or Z as the first letter are special amateur stations and are used for experimental work with various wave lengths as 2XL, 1YS, 1ZAC, etc. The government publications "Commercial and Government Radio Stations of the United States" and "Amateur Radio Stations of the United States" will locate all the stations in this country. These publications may be obtained from the superintendent of documents, Washington, D. C., for 15 cents and 25 cents, respectively. Do not send stamps or uncertified checks. ## Norway and Vicinity

Red Feather Farm Notes

The Red Feather Farm, Norway, Me., has completed another successful year. On February 19, 1922, the incubators, 6,000 egg capacity were set and continued doing business until June 2nd. During this period eleven thousand chicks were hatched. Seven thousand of these number were sold when one day old and shipped to various points of New England. The remaining four thousand were cared for by ten Newtown coal burning brooders, which were run from March 11 until May 20, without losing a fire. These brooders are proving to be a wonderful asset to the business.

Fourteen hundred fine pullets were raised to maturity. Seven hundred and fifty of these were housed on Sept. 20 for the winter laying stock and breeders. Fifty fine colored breeding cockerels from a heavy laying strain have been purchased from a poultry breeder in Portland for next Spring's business. Over eight thousand head of live stock have been produced and sold since April 5th. To date seven tons of dressed poultry have been shipped to T. H. Wheeler of Boston. Four tons of this being raised on the farm. This poultry has consumed seventy-five tons of grain. Six hundred and fifty hens have produced 4,018 eggs. The plant will be enlarged in the Spring. More incubators will be added to care for the increasing demand for day old chicks, orders for Spring delivery already booked. More brooder houses will also be added and equipment for a poultry dressing department, as the farm plans to buy poultry for this purpose, all of which is killed by the brain sticking method and dry picked, so as to present the best possible appearance.

Methodist Rally

A delightful program was given at the mid-year rally of the Methodist Church on Tuesday evening. The musical numbers were especially enjoyed. The organ selections by Mrs. Wilson, the solo parts by Mr. Gates and Miss Joslin, and the singing by the ladies' chorus, were all of a high order and charmed and inspired the listeners.

The committee in charge regretted that it had proved impossible to secure one of the former pastors of the church as special speaker for the occasion. However, letters were read filled with kindly greetings from Rev. C. Rogers who dedicated the original church building in 1880; from Rev. O. S. Pillsbury who was the first pastor of Norway as a separate church and during whose ministry the present parsonage was built; Rev. Frank W. Smith and Rev. John H. Roberts, popular pastors of the early '90's; and from Rev. B. O. Wentworth, one of the most recent leaders of the local Methodist church.

In Quest of Sister

The following letter was received Nov. 23rd.

"Norway Advertiser, Dear Sirs: We would like to ask the Advertiser and the people of Norway if they could help us in finding our sister, Margaret J. Savoy. We would thank anyone who would be kind enough to write us in regards to Miss Savoy's whereabouts, also the Advertiser of the Advertiser if they would print this letter and be well rewarded for any help in finding our sister.

We are sincerely yours,

Miss Valasta Savoy,

CONTROL OF CANCER

The American Society for the Control of Cancer is engaged in conducting throughout the Country campaigns for the education of the people concerning this most dreaded and most baffling of all diseases.

Investigations of the past few years have established certain facts concerning cancer, knowledge of which if generally disseminated, will greatly reduce the number of deaths from this disease. The object of the present campaign is to communicate this knowledge to as many persons as possible.

The chief outstanding fact concerning cancer is that the surgeon's knife is the only known remedy and that to be effective the operation must be performed during the earlier stages of the malady. If patients can be taught to recognize the symptoms of the disease when it is in its first appearance and can then be induced to consult medical authority, they may be saved. If examination is delayed long, the patient is without hope as a rule.

That is the story and pretty nearly the whole of it. There is no known cure for cancer, although science has been persistently and exhaustively sought for a specific for the disease. The cause of it in most cases is obscure, although it is known that it is likely to seize parts of the body that are subject to constant irritation. It is, however, known that it is not contagious and it is not hereditary.

The nearest approach to a cure of cancer that medical science has found has been the radium and X-ray treatment. This has been found effective in killing certain kinds of malignant growth in some cases, but it is very far from being dependable.

In general, the knife taken in time is the only hope. If the alarming death rate from the malady is to be reduced, it must be by educating the people of the Country to submit to examinations as soon as any of the preliminary symptoms appear, or as soon as there is an appearance of what may be preliminary symptoms.

While the cancer death rate shows no signs of abating, medical authorities are encouraged to continue the campaigns of education by the fact that the number of curable diseases brought to the hospitals shows a tendency to increase.

No woman cares to have the whole world at her feet. She does not want to admit that they are so large.

SOME INTERESTING THINGS ABOUT MARS

Of the eight planets of the solar system, a division is made in two parts: 4 major planets, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune and 4 terrestrial planets, Mercury, Venus, Earth and Mars. Of the surface markings of these last four planets, besides the earth, nothing is known of Mercury, very little of Venus and of all the celestial bodies most is known of the moon and the planet Mars, in the markings. While only one side of the moon is visible, the interest is narrowed to Mars, as all of its surface revolves before us for observation. "While the diameter of the earth is a little less than eight thousand miles, that of Mars is roughly one-half as much (nearly 4200 miles), and its surface measure is slightly more than one-third of that of the earth. What are some of the things known about Mars? It has polar snow caps that periodically and regularly melt as the Martian springtime occurs same as the earth. As the melting of the caps proceed, surface elevations bare themselves, as do our rocks in the snow covered fields, in spring. Immediately these snow caps begin to melt, dark fringes surround the edge. While it is winter and early spring, nothing was visible, but when the melting begins, the so called 'canals' begin to appear and creeping towards the planet's equator, grow more evident until the full tide of mid-summer.

The longest measured canals with the combine lengths of two or more is 3450 miles (planet's diameter, 4200 miles) and the shortest is 250 miles long. The surface shows a coarse network of canals, sometimes several radiating from a center like the spokes of a wheel, many intersecting one another and without exception, at each junction, a spot is always found. These spots and canals are mere smoothes in poor seeing, but as the air settles into quiescence, the lines narrow into sharpness and the oblong spots condense into nearly circular forms.

The spots which are apparently from 75 to 150 miles in diameter, are strung in spaces along the canals, like pearls upon a string. Sometimes the so-called canals extend hundreds of miles in parallel like a railroad track, 150 miles or more apart, but exactly spaced.

Perhaps the chief investigators of America and the world, who have devoted the most study on Mars are Prof. W. H. Pickering and a wealthy and generous investigator, Prof. Percival Lowell (now deceased), who was a brother of the present president of Harvard University, and who did not spare study and expense to wrest the truth about the planet. Both of these men bear testimony to the bluegreen areas of Mars, many, not water but apparently vegetative effects, that there are no large bodies of water on Mars.

Prof. Lowell writes, "On June 7, 1894 and then on subsequent dates, starlight points shown out for a few minutes in certain parts of the 'cap' (polar), glints undoubtedly from ice slopes tilted at the proper angle for specular reflection," and this was probably the foundation for the sensational and popular idea that we were receiving signals from Mars at that period.

Independent observers have reported, as observing atmospheric clouds, and noting the markings of the planet's surface as "rolling underneath these clouds." In all probability the planet is very flat of surface. A network of fine direct lines cover the desert face of the planet, all these lines are geometrical to a degree. In good air, the observer is at once struck by the superlatively regular appearance of these direct counts.

The straightness of the lines, their uniform width, and their inter-radiations from certain special points. The lines shown are either absolutely straight or curved in a uniform manner. These lines are comparable in width, possibly not above 15 miles across.

Schjaparelli did not hesitate to say that the lines looked as if they had been laid down by rule and compass.

It is not always when Mars is nearest to us, that the canals are best seen. They cross one another at all sorts of angles, never in zigzags. This suggestion was first made some years ago by Prof. Pickering, therefore if we suppose what we called a canal, to be not a canal proper but vegetation along it banks, the observed phenomenon stand accounted for. "The canals change in appearance, not at once but gradually as the seasons approach and depart. If there is a great scarcity of water on the planet, irrigation is necessary. Mr. Lowell further writes; "but so far as we have yet gone, we are forced to the conclusion, that the only explanation which will explain the facts, is that these canals are artificial productions implying local intelligence upon the planet. That which we see are not canals proper but the line of land which it irrigates, disposes incidently of the difficulty of conceiving a canal several miles wide." Prof. Lowell also writes; "of double canals, the Ganges, the widest measured, 6 degrees or 220 miles, the narrowest, 4 1-4 degrees or 156 miles, these are the distances between the centers of the twin canals. Each canal seems a little less than 1 degree or about 30 miles wide."

Mr. Lowell interestingly writes "there was a hush over everything which could almost be felt. It was an hour or sunset, then for a motive for so called 'canals' irrigation is necessary. Mr. Lowell further writes; "but so far as we have yet gone, we are forced to the conclusion, that the only explanation which will explain the facts, is that these canals are artificial productions implying local intelligence upon the planet. That which we see are not canals proper but the line of land which it irrigates, disposes incidently of the difficulty of conceiving a canal several miles wide." Each canal seems a little less than 1 degree or about 30 miles wide."

Mr. Lowell interestingly writes "there was a hush over everything which could almost be felt. It was an hour or sunset, then for a motive for so called 'canals' irrigation is necessary. ## LOVELL

Oldest Man in Town

The subject of this sketch, Albion Heald, has the distinction of being the oldest man in town and has been in possession for many years of the gold-headed cane given by the Boston Post. Mr. Heald will be 90 on his next birthday, April 8th, and certainly he has the much desired art of growing old gracefully.

He possesses a wonderful physique and his erect and alert bearing makes it hard to believe he has attained so many years. It is due, no doubt, to good health and a cheerful and optimistic disposition. Well read and posted, it is a treat to enjoy a talk with him and he is equally ready to discuss the current topics of the day or many interesting events of "ye olden times."

Mr. Heald was in former days one of the merchants of Lovell, but his business has descended to his son, it being now conducted in an able manner by him and partners under the firm name Heald, Stearns & Kimball. He is still greatly interested in store life and makes two or three visits there each day, where he is always ready with cheerful greetings or social chat with his old friends. He was also a fine carpenter and many of his friends cherish nice pieces of work done even now by his still skillful hands.

Mr. Heald belongs to the Masons, being one of the charter members, and is very loyal to his lodge. His son, S. F. Heald, and daughter, Mrs. L. L. Stearns are very devoted to their father and do all in their power to make life pleasant and he takes delight in the many auto rides and his visits to daughter "Bessie" where he is an honored and welcome guest. Mr. Heald enjoys life with all the zest of a young man, he enjoys his beautiful home where his home maker is always ready to minister to his comfort. He enjoys the busy activities of life around him in the prosperous little village where he has lived so many years and where his many friends hope will live in continued good health and happiness for many years to come.

Veteran Circus Dog Dead
Tobey, one of the star performers in the Taylor's Dog and Pony Show that played in vaudeville at Rex, Strand and Robinson theatres the past week, is no more. Old age carried him away and his remains rest under an apple tree at F. D. Knightley's place, Bridge street, Norway.

As told by Geo. L. Taylor, Tobey was trained when a puppy, making his first bow to the public in the DeBlake show at Patterson.

His specialty was stair walking and in this he was featured two years later with Barnum & Bailey and taken into the Ringling's when they combined. Several seasons he starred with Frank A. Robbins show. The veteran has traveled from coast to coast and performed in practically every city in the country.

Two trips were made to Europe and he was the last survivor of a large troupe of highly trained dogs noted in their day as exceptionally intelligent animals.

"Reg and Rolin" Dinmore have returned from their Metalluck Brook hunting and trapping expedition. They were away 5 or more weeks. They captured a mink, 2 fox, some coon and skunk skins, totalling about $80.00 in the fur market.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. Catarrhal Deafness requires constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing inflammation and restoring normal conditions. Cures free. All Druggists. E. J.
